Balvac Awarded Bridge Maintenance Partnership Contract

Balvac wins maintenance work with Halton Borough Council on Runcorn – Widnes Bridge and other structures in the borough.

After a stringent adjudication process Balvac has been awarded a contract by Halton Borough Council known as the Bridge Maintenance Partnership.

The contract will involve repair, maintenance and strengthening of numerous structures within Halton and will run for at least four years.

The first structure to be dealt with is the famous Runcorn - Widnes Bridge. This will involve the provision of high profile traffic management, access, grit blasting, painting, steel repairs, concrete repair and cathodic protection to the reinforced concrete deck. This project is likely to be valued at around £3 million.

The whole Maintenance Partnership is likely to be worth around £15million over the next four years, with a possible two year extension.

Congratulations to everyone who was involved in this extensive price/quality bid and good luck to everyone who will be working with Richard Bailey on this prestigious Partnership.

Keith Barrow
Director and General Manager

The Runcorn – Widnes Bridge is a Grade II listed structure and was renamed 'The Silver Jubilee Bridge' in 1977 following extensive widening works.
